

views and popularity resulted in his election to Congress from a strongly Republican district.

"Who I have decided votes on the situation I feel I cannot with propriety express them because of my position as Lieutenant-Governor and presiding officer of the Senate and also of the joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives as I think like to do so as a Democrat at this time," expressed his views in the last campaign.

"Mr. Littleton's open declaration of his candidacy at this time and clear expression of his views on many of the important questions now before Congress and the country will doubtless receive careful consideration by the legislators, whose duty it is to select a United States Senator."

Senator George B. Burd, the insurgent from Erie, who has been voting for Mr. Littleton, was one of the few legislators around Albany to-night. Senator Burd and his head were seen in the crowd.

and hoped it would get the Congressmen some more votes to-morrow. Senator Bird was telling his friends that he looked for a break in the deadlock in about ten days, but he was not furnishing any strong basis for the claim.

NO FRICTION IN DIN'S CABINET.

Supt. Treiman Says the Members Are in Complete Accord on the Senatorship.

LIBERIA, Feb. 19. "There is no friction in Gov. Dix's cabinet caused by the contest for the Senatorship," said Charles M. Treman, Superintendent of Public Works, who spent the week end in this city at his home. Mr. Treman denied the report that Thomas M. Osborne and William Church Osborne were at odds with him because of his alleged going over to Murphy and supporting Sheehan. He said his own attitude on the Senatorship had not been changed at all.

"Associated with the Governor are in complete accord. The Senatorial situation practically unchanged. There is apparently much less discussion about it in Albany than in other parts of the State. The legislators seem to have accepted the situation as one that can only be solved by time and they are now devoting their attention to the legislative work. The leaders of the Legislature say that the work of the session is further ad-

Unions Urged to Send Delegates to Wainwright Liability Commission's Hearing.

The unions in the building trades reported yesterday that they have received a circular letter from Roswell D. Tompkins, secretary of the New York Building Trades Council, representing the building trade unions, urging them to send representatives to the hearing of the Wright Liability Commission which begins to-day at the Metropolitan Life Building. The circular says that it is of the highest importance for unions in trades that are hazardous to have delegates present so as to give the data and testimony to the risks in their respective trades.

A standing committee of a number of unions in trades which are looked on as hazardous which has been preparing a
